MATT DEVINE

Matt Devine is a self-taught sculptor working with steel, stainless steel, aluminum and bronze. Born and raised in New England, Devine moved to California in 1995, where he learned to weld and fabricate metal while working alongside his father.

The contrasts of nature and industry, light and shadow, chaos and order are themes found throughout Devine's body of work. Pared-down organic shapes are formed out of sheet and solid materials and welded together in harmonious accord, often allowing the metal to appear as light as paper. These contrasts, plus the relationships of patterns and boundaries, address Devine's desire to contain chaos and push out the discord of an information-saturated culture.

Since becoming a fulltime artist in 2004, Devine has developed his signature sculpture style while building his fine art career. Devine's sculpture is on display at highly regarded art galleries across North America, Asia and Europe. His works can also be found in a myriad of private, corporate and public art collections on five continents.
